CURRICULUM DEVELOPMENT

Wayne State University School of Social Work

- Co-Led curriculum revisions throughout 2020 and 2021. I am currently lead for the Interpersonal Practice curriculum and created three new Interpersonal Practice courses/syllabi for the curriculum revision and reviewed an additional three syllabi as part of the complete overhaul of the MSW curriculum. In the PhD program I created two new theory courses and syllabi and continue to revise these in anticipation of their implementation in Fall 2021.
- Advanced Interpersonal Practice with Trauma and Post Traumatic Stress Disorder (MSW elective course developed during the 2016-2017 academic year). This course examines the major trauma therapy models and theories. In this course, students apply specific theories and intervention models to social work practice with trauma exposed individuals and those with trauma related disorders, across the life span, and within an ecological and cultural context. To be offered starting Winter 2019.
