

Review & Discussion of Technology Standards & Ethics in Social Work Practice

Friday, February 22, 2019 from 2 to 4 pm

Merrill Palmer Skillman Institute (Hobblers Room, 71 East Ferry, Detroit, MI 48202)

SPACE IS LIMITED!
REGISTER TODAY!

<https://bit.ly/2RIEsg0>

REGISTRATION DEADLINE:
Thursday, Feb. 21

CE's: Earn 2 FREE
Social Work continuing education contract
hours

COST: FREE

PRESENTER:
Anwar Najor-Durack,
PhD, LMSW

QUESTIONS: Sarah Doyle
az8091@wayne.edu
313-577-4784

This presentation will offer an overview of the new Technology Standards and discuss the need for social workers to continue to review social work practice in an age of continuous evolving technology. As we use technology to access, input and manage client/patient information, it is imperative social workers are aware of emerging technology that may change and often improve delivery of care. The workshop will review how state laws and ethical consideration impact use of these technologies.

Cultural Diversity/Social Justice Statement:

Like all areas of practice, when using technology in practice, social workers always adhere to best practices, taking into consideration their patients needs. This includes not only assessing the most effective intervention but also ensuring that they accommodate individual learning needs and cultural diversity.

Learning Objectives:

1. Understand the need for the development of technology standards as a guide for social work practice
2. Be aware and increase knowledge about Michigan CE licensing rules and use of technology
3. List three strategies to help prevent ethical violations

Sponsors:

Detroit
Perinatal
Wellness
Coalition

Nature's Playhouse
an all-natural play and wellness center

mpi
MERRILL PALMER SKILLMAN INSTITUTE for Child & Family Development
Infant Mental Health Program