MESSAGE FROM THE DEAN

Dean Phyllis Vroom

Welcome to the Social Work Month edition of Visions. Perhaps you have already glanced at our cover story on the establishment of our brand new Center for Practice and Policy Research. If not, I urge you to read it through carefully, because we are counting on our alumni to help us spread the word about this new community resource. I am very gratified that the Provost and Faculty Senate have approved this major step, because it represents accomplishment of yet one more key piece of the school's strategic plan.

Also in this issue is a story about two events in March that celebrate Social Work Month. The first is our Second Annual Diversity Lecture, to be delivered this year by Associate Professor Anthony King. Dr. King will report on a timely and crucial topic: efforts to ease the reentry of returning offenders back into the community. Anthony has done extensive research on this area and is building a national reputation as an expert on the subject. I urge you to join us on March 20 to hear his important message. The second Social Work Month event is the annual Alumni Association Award luncheon on March 28. This is a wonderful event which I always look forward to attending, because we consistently honor two well-deserving professionals. This year's honorees at the lunch will be Robert Ennis, named "Citizen of the Year" and "Alumni of the Year" Doug Plant. I hope to see a lot of you there.

Be sure to notice the story on Representative John Dingell's very first earmark for Wayne State University. Earmarks have gotten a tarnished reputation in the media recently, but what is often lost is that many earmarks do very good things. This one is no exception: it will allow the school to work with a respected community organization, First Start, to ease the trauma of sexual assault victims. I am very grateful to John Dingell and I am optimistic that this is only the beginning of yet another important outreach and partnership to benefit the community and particularly the residents of the downriver area Representative Dingell has served so well for so long.

May I end by saying I hope you enjoy all of these stories and the others in this issue, and to wish you a joyous spring.

The School of Social Work at Wayne State University has recently received approval from the Provost, after a recommendation by the Academic Senate, to establish a Center for Social Work Practice and Policy Research, a major step forward in fulfilling the school's long-range plan. In reacting to the approval, Dean Phyllis Vroom said, "we are extremely pleased to begin work on building the center. This is the most significant accomplishment toward achieving our long-range goals since establishment of our PhD program in 2005. It represents the culmination of careful planning and hard work and will help us take the school to a new level as an academic and community resource."

The faculty and Center staff will partner with community-based organizations and social service providers to engage in research, theory building, technical assistance, capacity building, and distribution of evidence-informed practices to create a partnership and infrastructure for scholars and practitioners to bridge the gap between research and practice.

The new Center will be directed by Joanne Sobeck, who was recently granted tenure, promoted to Associate Professor and named Director of Research for the School of Social Work. In a recent interview with Visions, Sobeck said, "I am anxious to get started building two-way bridges between research and practice. My vision is that we can connect some of the outstanding research our faculty has completed and is pursuing with the needs of our partners in practice, resulting in stronger organizations and better-integrated research."

Already on board are two additional professional staff members, Elizabeth Agius and Erin Comartin, with the hiring of a third anticipated soon. Research Coordinator Neva Nahan rounds out the inaugural team. Visions asked Sobeck specifically how alumni might help the Center get off to a strong start. She asks that our readers promote the new Center in their professional networks to get the message out that the Center is up and running and ready to engage community groups and agencies. Work is already underway to provide alumni with literature and other tools to help tell the story. Look for details soon. In the interim, if there are questions or suggestions, contact Sobeck or the Center staff.

The Center will be a state-of-the-art hub within the school that can accommodate the instructional, training and professional development needs of students and service providers, as well as maintain the resources and systems needed to support a wide array of research and technical assistance projects. The research foci of the proposed Center will include: trauma and violence, criminal and juvenile justice; children, youth and families and social and community development. The three major thrusts of center activities will be to conduct research, partner with community organizations, and disseminate the knowledge gained.

While the Center will value the perspectives of other disciplines and will partner with other schools within WSU, social work will be the dominant disciplinary focus, and research will be the primary emphasis of all activities, with improved practice serving as the overarching goal. The success of the Center will depend on how well it ensures connections among partners to facilitate a flow of information and knowledge, so new discoveries can be quickly synthesized from theory into practice and social welfare policies, and translated from field experience into bodies of knowledge. ■

PRESIDENTIAL SEARCH COMMITTEE WELCOMES E-MAIL SUGGESTIONS, COMMENTS

In the last issue of Visions we announced the composition of the search committee to identify a successor to retiring university president Irving Reid. Since then, the committee, one member of whom is Dean Phyllis Vroom, has released an Internet address to be used by anyone who wishes to make comments or suggestions. This is the address: www.bog.wayne.edu/presidentialsearch. ■

Two Events Mark March as Social Work Month ...

To mark March as Social Work Month, the School of Social Work and the Alumni Association will co-sponsor two events. The first is the second annual Diversity Lecture, which will be delivered by Associate Professor Anthony E. O. King on Thursday, March 20th at 2:00 pm in the Community Arts Auditorium on the Wayne State University campus. The other is the Alumni Association award luncheon, which is scheduled for 11:30 am on Friday, March 28 at Alumni House. This year's honorees at the lunch will be Robert Ennis, named "Citizen of the Year" and "Alumni of the Year" Doug Plant.

King to Deliver Diversity Lecture March 20

Diversity Lecture March 20 at 2 pm

Associate Professor King is an expert on prisoner reentry issues. His topic for the second annual Diversity Lecture is "Characteristics of Returning Offenders: Implications for Community-based Reentry Programs and Service Providers."

As hundreds of thousands of ex-offenders nationwide (and thousands in Michigan) head home from prison each year, many programs are being established to help inmates transition successfully back into their communities and reduce recidivism. In Michigan, for example, the budget for the Department of Corrections is the largest in state history, so authorities are searching for ways to cut costs. The state is looking to local service providers to provide job-seeking training, housing assistance and other forms of support for ex-offenders when they return home.

In his lecture, King will discuss the characteristics of returning offenders and the implications of state and federal re-entry policies on communities and community-based human service providers.

Professionals attending the lecture can earn 1 Continuing Education contact hour. To register for credit or learn more details, contact Loren Hoffman at (313) 577-4464 or by e-mail aa2851@wayne.edu

Annual Alumni Luncheon is March 28

Alumni Luncheon to honor Ennis and Plant

Traditionally, at its Annual Luncheon, to celebrate Social Work Month, the Alumni Association honors two community leaders. This year's honorees are Robert E. Ennis and Doug Plant. Ennis is a licensed social worker in the State of Michigan and founder and president of Ennis Center for Children, Inc. which provides Foster Care, Adoption, Juvenile Delinquency, Mental Health, and Sexual Offender programs.

Plant is the Vice President of Community Services for United Way for Southeastern Michigan. He oversees funding, partnerships, and operations of the volunteer center and 2-1-1. He began at United Way in 2005 as a consultant charged with implementation of the 2-1-1 call center. He was subsequently hired as the Operations Manager then moved into the Director's role before taking on the newly formed Community Services department in 2007.

Plant earned his MSW from Wayne State University in 1981 and has held a variety of management roles in both for-profit and non-profit human service entities for over 20 years.

Alumni wishing to make a reservation for the March 28 luncheon should also contact Loren Hoffman at (313) 577-4464 or aa2851@wayne.edu ■

Representative John Dingell Announces First Earmark for WSU, Program to Aid Victims of Sexual Assault

Representative John Dingell

United States Representative John Dingell recently announced funding for a program to help victims of domestic violence in his congressional district. The program is a first collaboration between the School of Social Work and First Step's Out-Wayne County SAFE (Sexual Assault Forensic Examiner) program. The principal coordinator for the school is Assistant Professor Poco Kernsmith who is building a national reputation as an expert on domestic violence and sexual-assault prevention.

First Step's Out-Wayne County SAFE program will meet the needs of sexual assault victims with specialized forensic exams, immediate crisis intervention, legal advocacy, and assistance with prosecution in the rest of the county. Based upon reports of sexual assaults at area hospitals, it is anticipated that the program will reach 250 victims during the first year, helping to meet the emotional, physical, and legal needs of the survivors.

For almost 30 years, First Step has built a successful and award-winning collaboration within the 35 communities in Out-Wayne County. This funding will enable First Step and Wayne County SAFE, in concert with the School of Social Work, to develop a much needed SEXUAL ASSAULT TASK FORCE, enhancing existing partnerships by providing training and awareness for key personnel, social work student interns, and with the 35 Out-Wayne County police departments and the following hospitals: St. Mary's, Annapolis, Garden City, Heritage, Oakwood Main, Oakwood Canton, Southshore, Wyandotte, and Henry Ford Medical Center.

This one-of-a-kind partnership also engages the School of Social Work to measure the impact of SAFE programming on the emotional well being of the survivors and criminal justice response, including conviction rates, and the effectiveness of the coordinated community response.

Nurse examiners will respond to assaults on an on-call basis. Social work interns and First Step staff will provide advocacy services for survivors, both at the time of the initial call and on a follow up basis. These assault response advocates would be available to respond to survivors of sexual assault, either at the time of a police report or in the hospital if a victim seeks medical attention. ■

Board of Visitors Member Allan Gelfond Wins Berman Service Award

Longtime Board of Visitors member Allan Gelfond was honored last October with the Mandell L. and Madeleine H. Berman Award for Distinguished Jewish Communal Service. In bestowing the award, Bill Berman said of Allan Gelfond, "With the heart and stamina of an Olympian, 'Geli' has served the Jewish community of Detroit for 46 years ... (he) continues to raise the conscience of the Jewish community and in the process has helped raise hundreds of millions of dollars to its benefit."

Gelfond has worked for the Jewish Federation of Metropolitan Detroit since 1980 and currently holds the title of Senior Financial Resource Development Officer. In addition to the Berman award, Gelfond has received the Vivian Rabineau Memorial Award, the William Avrunin Fellowship and the Pappas "Innovative Idea of the Year" Award. ■

Dean Vroom Honored with BFDI Zenobia Payne-Drake Humanitarian Award

On December 13 of last year, Dean Phyllis Vroom was honored at the Black Family Development, Inc. (BFDI) Twelfth Annual Presidents' Dinner, held at the Charles H. Wright Museum of African-American American History. Along with five other 2007 honorees, Vroom received the Zenobia Payne-Drake Humanitarian Award, which memorializes Ms. Payne-Drake, a Board Member and Public Relations Chairperson of BFDI, who passed away in January, 1997.

In the ceremony, which was presided over by Mistress of Ceremonies, entrepreneur, playwright and songwriter Keisha N. Allen, Vroom was commended for her outstanding commitment to family and community. Other honorees included Delois Whitaker Caldwell, Mavis Cofield, Marian Kramer, David Baker Lewis and Heaster L. Wheeler. ■

“Roots” refers to the reclaiming movement’s immediate predecessors in the 1940s through 1960s at Wayne State University and the University of Michigan Fresh Air Camp, and ‘wings’ refers to “legacy” programs which are currently operating.

School to Co-sponsor “Roots and Wings” Seminars September 16-20, 2008

Transforming education, juvenile justice, treatment, and youth development will make up the focus of a conference co-sponsored by Wayne State University’s School of Social Work and Reclaiming Youth International this fall. The conference, along with pre-conference workshops, will take place at Community Arts Auditorium and McGregor Conference Center on the Wayne main campus in Detroit, September 16-20, 2008.

The “Roots and Wings Seminars” recognize the history of this eco-biologically based approach with social psychology and education foundations. “Roots” refers to the reclaiming movement’s immediate predecessors in the 1940s through 1960s at Wayne State University and the University of Michigan Fresh Air Camp, and ‘wings’ refers to “legacy” programs which are currently operating. In the mid twentieth century, a group of researchers and practitioners joined forces to develop fresh approaches to reclaiming troubled youth. Especially notable in this development locally were Fritz Redl, David Wineman, and Kurt Lewin, who were affiliated with the School of Social Work during that period.

MESSAGE FROM

Georgene Thornton Alumni Association President

Alumni Association President Georgene Thornton

The best news I have for you in this winter message is that the fall semester is behind us, a new semester has started and soon we will all have the pleasure of experiencing the reawakening of a new season.

I love spring. It's a wonderful season. Everything is new: the grass, the flowers and even the leaves on the trees. Spring makes you want to spend time outside, grilling, jogging, planting, walking or just sitting, reading or dreaming.

Your Alumni Board already has spring fever. We have been busy as bees, pulling our three fundraisers together.

curtain will rise on Kathleen Clark's delightful romantic comedy "Southern Comfort." You get both the reception and performance for a very modest cost of just $25. The third of the year's fundraisers is our Annual Dinner and Silent Auction, to be held Thursday, June 26 at 6 pm at the Detroit Yacht Club. For tickets to any or all of these events, call the Alumni Office at (313) 577-4464. I look forward to seeing all of you at all three of these wonderful, fun events.

In closing, I would like to remind you that we are a fun and exciting organization. And we take pride in working hard for you ... but we can use your help and energy to accomplish our future goals. So allow me to issue an open invitation to all of our alumni, especially those of you who live in the Detroit metropolitan area to add your creativity and interests to our efforts by serving with us on the Board. If you are interested, call the Alumni Office at (313) 577-4464 to get more information. Then we will contact you for an interview. That's all it takes. The board meets the fourth Tuesday of each month from 5 pm to 7 pm at the Thompson Home.

Hope to see and greet you soon.

Georgene Thornton, MSW, LMSW
President, Alumni Association

November Reception Honored Scholarship Donors and Recipients

On November 15 last year, the School of Social Work held its annual scholarship reception honoring both the students who have earned scholarships and the generosity of the donors who provide that financial support.

Following the traditional format, the program was highlighted by three speakers, one, scholarship steward Loren Hoffman, speaking on behalf of the scholarship donors and two student speakers represented those who received scholarships, Holly Borchart spoke for MSW scholars, while Hassan Hammoud represented BSW recipients.

In summing up the event, Dean Phyllis Vroom said, "Of all the events I attend each year representing the school, this is one of the most satisfying because I have the opportunity to renew acquaintances with both scholarship students and donors. To see the warmth and excitement as donors meet the beneficiaries of their investments and students can personally thank those who support their efforts."

Speaking to donors, she added, "My message ... is a simple one: your contribution is an investment in a brighter future for both our students and the broader community. Our students work hard to prepare themselves for this important work. Your financial support not only frees the student to concentrate on academic work, but often also relieves the financial burden on the family. With the reality of diminished governmental support and a difficult state economy, your assistance takes on increased importance this year."

Scholarship recipients historically strive to make the most of their educational opportunities and to use what they learn to better the lives of others in the community as they move from academia into the profession. These contributions are key reasons why the programs of the School of Social Work continue to be highly ranked. ■
